

HU-BTU Third International Conference on Heritage Conservation and Site Management
"Sustainable Tourism Management for Cultural Heritage"
Cairo, 8-11 December 2015

James Hervey-Bathurst

James Hervey-Bathurst is heavily involved in the heritage and tourism sectors and from 2004 to 2008 was President of the Historic Houses Association, which represents the interests of the UK's 1500 privately-owned historic houses. He is currently Vice President of European Historic Houses, the umbrella organisation for the various similar associations across Europe.

He manages his family business in the UK, centred round Eastnor Castle: www.eastnorcastle.com which is used for a wide variety of commercial and other purposes. He is also a consultant to Christie's, the fine art auctioneers, and to Coutts & Co, a leading international private bank. He has advised other families in the UK on the management of their heritage assets. He has previously lectured in London, New York, Philadelphia, Fulda and Cottbus.

(After graduating from Trinity College, Cambridge, he qualified as a lawyer and then worked for Kleinwort Benson in the Middle East Department, He then worked as a recruitment consultant with Russell Reynolds Associates and then Norman Broadbent, where he had responsibility for offices in Birmingham, Paris and Madrid before becoming Deputy Chairman.)

James Hervey-Bathurst
3rd November 2015

